By Direction of:
Josh Shapiro, Governor

WHEREAS, access to affordable, resilient, and habitable housing is fundamental to the prosperity of all communities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, including those in urban, suburban, and rural areas; and

WHEREAS, housing stock shortage and housing underproduction has resulted in lack of affordable housing and an increase in costs for Pennsylvanians that affects both renters and homeowners, with many spending more than 30% of their paychecks on housing; and

WHEREAS, the rising costs of home ownership and rental units disproportionately impacts low-income households; and

WHEREAS, the Administration is committed to further developing, rehabilitating, and preserving housing to ensure the continued vibrancy and vitality of all communities in the Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS, the Commonwealth recognizes the persistent and complex challenge of addressing housing affordability, accessibility, and resources for unhoused people or those who are at imminent risk of homelessness; and

WHEREAS, homelessness is a pressing issue affecting individuals and families across the Commonwealth, with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development reporting over 12,000 homeless persons in Pennsylvania in 2023; and

WHEREAS, the Ten-Year Strategic Plan for Economic Development in Pennsylvania identified access to housing as a key factor to increasing economic competitiveness, and a lack of affordable housing as a significant reason workers cite when choosing to seek economic opportunity outside of the Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS, the Aging Our Way, PA plan identifies the need for accessible, affordable, and adaptable housing as crucial for ensuring that older Pennsylvanians can age with dignity and independence, and the availability of such housing is essential to maintaining the health, well-being, and community engagement of the Commonwealth's aging population; and

WHEREAS, the Administration recognizes that solutions to these intersecting challenges will require a coordinated, multi-agency approach to effectively address housing shortages, homelessness, and the underlying causes, and should include collaboration between state, local, and federal agencies and private sector organizations; and

WHEREAS, Pennsylvania's past and ongoing investments in housing and homelessness will benefit from enhanced interagency coordination, which will result in a more unified and effective approach to addressing the Commonwealth's housing needs.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Josh Shapiro, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and other laws, do hereby direct the creation of a Housing Action Plan for Pennsylvania and, further, order and direct as follows:
